Observations... From Around Town

(BY JAY WHOZIT)

Although nearly two months have passed since the recent hurricane made its disastrous visitation, it indirectly claimed two more lives on Tuesday afternoon of this week, when two members of a bridge crew accidentally drowned while working near the L. & N. drawbridge, completing repairs to the damaged span, this raised the known death toll to fourteen.

The U. S. Engineers who did such splendid work clearing storm debris and building the temporary beach road, finished their job here last week and left for their headquarters in Mobile, Ala. . . if you like good meatball and spaghetti, be sure to get your tickets now for the SJA Parents Club supper at the KC Hall on next Wednesday evening, November 19th . . . the city officials have passed an ordinance and declared their intention to sell their gas distribution system extending from the Gulfport city limits through Harrison County to the city limits of Bay St. Louis, this is a good move because it will save the city and taxpayers money, since the loss from leakage in the pipeline across the Bay of St. Louis alone was more than $20,000.00 and by selling this extension, further loss can be eliminated . . . Bay High School and St. Stanislaus will have their homecoming celebrations on succeeding weekends, with Bay High having theirs on this Friday night, the 14th, with Miss Willie Mae Davis reigning as queen, and Misses Gay Curet and Betty Courge, as maids; St. Stanislaus Homecoming is scheduled for Sunday, November 23rd, when Miss Thelma Namais will rule as queen, having as her maids, Misses Rita Mae Steafide, Geri Martin, Fay Gex and Clyde Orlington. Their football opponents for the afternoon will be Catholic High School of Baton Rouge, La. . . asphalt and pipe from the commodities department of the War Assets Administration, arrived in Bay St. Louis this week for the further repair of storm damaged facilities or the city, this material was supplied by the U. S. Government without cost to the city . . . on Monday of this week Governor Fielding L. Wright certified the election of Judge John C. Stennis as successor to the late Senator Theodore G. Bilbo . . . Senator Stennis will take his seat when Congress convenes in special session at Washington, on November 17th. . . we had our first taste of winter here this week with the mercury dipping to slightly under 45 degrees . . . a professional basketball league is being formed in Hancock County, this is a good move and should supply the public with lots of good, clean sport, as there are many excellent players in this county as evidenced by the fine teams produced by the various schools in past years . . . our town needs the Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce needs your membership, so if you are not already a member, plan to join now and aid in the building of your community . . . actual work was begun this week on the rebuilding of the Valena C. Jones Colored public High School, by the construction firm of Gaston and Sepich, of Gulfport . . . don't forget the fair and block party, on the Waveland school grounds, this Saturday from 12 noon till you get tired, plenty to eat and drink, and lots of fun for all, besides you will be helping a worthy cause . . . Brother Peter, of St. Stanislaus, attended the Notre Dame-Army football game in South Bend, Ind., last Saturday afternoon, as guest of Coach Frank Leahy, returning home on Monday.

Returns From Trip

Mrs. W. C. Little and granddaughter Clara, of Pearlington, have returned from a two-months stay at Baltimore, Md., where she visited her daughter Mrs. N. C. Smith and family. Enroute home she stopped for a visit to her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Kandle, of Savannah, Georgia, and at Mobile where she visited another daughter, Mrs. F. R. Seigmund and family.

Mrs. Little was in Mobile for the family reunion of the Erwin family held in Mobile at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seigmund. This was the first reunion of the families since 1923 and would have been complete but for the unavoidable absence of Dr. and Mrs. Kandle.

Mrs. Little arrived home happy after her lovely trip and was welcomed by her many friends.

Q. O. CRADDOCK SHOT BY MOTORIST

A 63-year old piano tuner was jailed here Monday night in connection with the shooting earlier in the day of Q. O. Craddock at his oil station on Highway 90 a mile west of Bay St. Louis.

The man, identified by Constable Gerald Price as John Bosserman, a Pass Christian farmer and odd-jobs man, was arrested in Pass Christian by Sheriff John Egloff, Constable Price and Chief of Police, Alcine Saucier and Deputy Sheriff Ethan Garriga of Harrison County at his home north of Pass Christian.

Bosserman stopped at the Craddock place of business it was said for travel information. An argument started after Bosserman became dissatisfied with the road information given by Craddock and according to Egloff the motorist struck Craddock on the head with a wrench. Craddock got possession of the wrench and the man demanded that he be given it back and when this was refused the man went to his car and took out a rifle. When Craddock saw this he started for his office to get his gun and he was about to enter when Bosserman fired 3 shots at him two of which lodged in his left shoulder and the third entered his back. His wounds were pronounced not serious by a physician after the shots had been removed and Craddock was allowed to leave the hospital and return to his place of business.

Bosserman was given a hearing here Thursday morning before Judge L. B. Capdepon and was bound over to await the action of the Grand Jury under a $2,000.00 bond.

RAILROAD BRIDGE-MEN DROWN

Accident Occurred Tuesday Evening—Bodies Forwarded To Respective Homes

Andrew Stinson of Georgiana, Alabama and Arthur E. Wright of Perdido, Florida, bridge-men for the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, were drowned on Tuesday afternoon, while at work on the bridge about 200 feet west of the draw span.

Stinson, who was using a wrench fell overboard and Wright dove into the water in an attempt to rescue him. The undercurrent caused by a rapidly falling tide was strong, and the men were unable to battle it. L. C. Shiver of Bay Minette, Alabama, another member of the crew, realizing that both men were drowning jumped into the water in an attempt to rescue them, however it was too late and he could not fight the undercurrent and it was necessary for his crew to throw some timbers over or him to grab in order to save himself. Once ashore of the timbers he drifted out quite a distance and was rescued by men from the Merchant Marine Cadet School. He was brought to the Kings Daughters Hospital at Bay St. Louis, and was in a rather serious condition.

The men were members of a crew supervised by L. C. Sanders and have been working here since the hurricane of September 19th, and were to leave here shortly, their work being practically completed.

The bodies of Stinson and Wright were recovered by Edward Anderson, with his trawl boat shortly after the drowning took place, and were turned over to the Fahey Mortuary to be prepared for burial and were forwarded to their respective homes on Wednesday morning on train No. 4.

Both men were in their early thirties.

"Comrades, this day is sacred with the almost visible presence of those who have gone before us. We honor the memory of those who gave their lives in the service of our Country, and of those others who have dropped their burdens by the wayside of life, and are gone to their eternal rest. May the ceremonies of today deepen your reverence for our dead. Let us renew our pledge of loyalty to our Country and its Flag. Let us resolve by word and deed to emphasize the privilege and duty to patriotism."

"Again our nation has assembled to honor its heroic dead. A thousand battles on land and sea echo the glory of their valiant deeds. Under the quiet sod or beneath the murmuring waves, their bodies sleep in peace. But in the destinies of men, their souls go marching on. Because of them our lives are free. Because of them our nations live."

"When we recall the things they did, the hero hosts seem mighty in our midst. When peril threatened their Country called, with what divine self-sacrifice they left their paths of peace to spring to arms, to make their breasts a barricade against the nation's foes. No sorrow for the loved ones left behind could dim the purpose in their souls. No weariness of march and watch could keep them from their heart's desire. No horror of the field, or sea, or air, could beat their courage down."

"Comrades, on this Memorial Day let us pledge ourselves anew to patriotic service. Let us make ourselves the friend and brother, son and father, of those who will not see their own again in mortal flesh. Let his grasp with fearless hands the Flag so nobly borne before, and like those others, plant it always on the battlements of righteousness."

"All who stand with us today, will you not consecrate yourselves with us to emulate their sacred service that those who rest in heroes' graves may not have died in vain?"

Supreme Court Renders Decision Favorable To Counties

In Road Construction Suit Seeking Reimbursement of Funds Expended By Counties on Primary Highway System—Cause Remanded to Chancery Court of Hinds County For Further Hearing

The Mississippi Supreme Court on Monday rendered a decision in the case of Coahoma County et al. Versus the State Highway Commission being a suit to recover reimbursement of funds expended by certain counties for road construction which became a part of the State Highway System.

The appeal was from a Hinds County Chancery Court decision which held in favor of the State Highway Commission, upholding the commission's contention that the Stansel Act of 1930 provided for reimbursement only on the basis of "Pavement on the Highway."

The Supreme Court reversed and remanded the case.

The controlling opinion was written by Justice Virgil Griffith and contains 20 legal pages, citing the various acts of the Legislature since 1910 in attending to set up road legislation and finally the passing of the Stansel Act of 1930, which the opinion states is a comprehensive statute, and that said act after designating the highways that were to be considered primary state highways, the act, as a dominant expression of its purpose, declared that such primary highways were hereby placed under the supervision and control of the state highway commission for construction, reconstruction and maintenance at the cost and expense of the State.

There was inserted in the Stansel Act of 1930 a section which provided that a County desiring to complete all or any part of the primary system of highways, within the borders of the county at an earlier date than traffic demanded and the regular order of the Stansel Act provided, then the County could issue bonds for the construction of said highways under the supervision of the Director of Highways, subject to the supervision of the Highway Commission, who should decide as to the location and type of construction, and that when the road that had been constructed under this provision would have been constructed as a part of such program and the same became a part of a continuous paved state highway, the highway commission was to cause the same to be appraised as provided already constructed.

At the time that the Stansel Act was passed a number of counties had already built certain roads within the primary system under the supervision of the State Highway Department, and according to their plans and specifications, and the Stansel Act provided for the reimbursement of the funds expended for the paving of these roads.

Hancock County in 1924-1925 and 1926 built Highway 90 and Highway 11 in Hancock County under the supervision of the Highway Department, the contracts were let and the money paid to the state highway commission for disbursement. The Highway Bridge over the Bay of St. Louis was constructed under the supervision of the commission, and the part paid by the County was transferred to the Highway Commission, all of this was done prior to the enactment of the Stansel Act.

The highway commission contended that the appraisal should cover the actual costs of the concrete slab, and the counties took the position that the appraisal should include the entire roadbed, including rights of ways and all bridges.

The court stated that the dominant purpose clearly expressed in the Stansel Act was that all primary highways should be constructed and reconstructed into modern paved highways "at the cost and expense of the State" and, manifestly it was the purpose of the two sections referred to above to arrange it so that every County would be treated alike with no discrimination for or against any county of the state in matter of cost and expense, and that if the contention of the highway Commission was upheld that it would be discriminating and that all counties would not be treated alike.

The court held that the phrase "pavement on the highway" was a short cut expression, to exclude the interpretation as regards the construction or reconstructing the old improved County highway into a modern paved highway, that anything of the old unpaved highway which was then there and which was used in the construction or reconstruction should be appraised.

The court cited that between and during the years 1924 and 1926, Hancock County furnished to the State Highway Department a sum in excess of $217,000.00 which was used by the department for the grading, drainage, bridges and gravel surfacing of several miles of new highway construction on State Highways 90 and 11 in this County, the route therefor having been laid out and surveyed by the State Highway Commission itself on new ground, but the paving surface on the highway was later done by the highway department, no part of the paving was paid for by Hancock County. The highway department contended that since the paving was not laid by the County, that none of the work preparatory thereto was subject to appraisal, and the court stated that "if under the plans, specifications and directions of the State Highway Dept. any segment or part of the old highway and the old bridges were abandoned and a new segment and new bridges were constructed at County expense, the new construction and the new bridge should be included in the appraisal." The court further stated "This is not to be avoided by taking the County's money to do everything on a new route except the laying of the pavement slab and then repay it nothing. This instance is enough within itself to demonstrate the unsoundness of the technical contention that in all cases nothing but the pavement slab should be appraised. What was done by the county on the segment of section above mentioned should be appraised except as to that part which is within the municipal limits of the City of Bay St. Louis."

As to the construction of the bridge over the Bay of St. Louis the court stated "dealing with the bridge over the Bay of St. Louis between Hancock and Harrison Counties, which was built as an entirely new bridge by the counties under Chapter 512, Laws 1924, this was a necessary link in Highway 90 and that "but for its existence the commission would have had to construct it in carrying out the mandate of the Legislature to take over, construct and maintain highway 90 as a primary road across the State." The commission now states that there is no pavement on this bridge, and that inasmuch as the bridge constitutes a segment as to which there is no "pavement on the highway," the bridge is not to be included in the appraisal. We have already said that pavement on the highway includes whatever was necessary to put upon the old highway or upon any new segment constructed in lieu of one in the old highway, and in effect that whenever it was necessary in the conversion program to construct a new bridge or to take out an old one and build a new one in its place the new bridge in its entirety should be appraised, in proportion that the county or counties contributed thereto, and we now add that it is immaterial whether the new bridge has pavement slab on it or not."

The court further stated that they had covered the general principles to be applied on a rehearing and were remanding the cause so that the trial court may make a decree which shall be complete, definite and certain as to each county and local unit in accordance with principles herein above outlined.

The amount of reimbursement due to Hancock County will exceed $500,000.00 exclusive of interest if the lower court on the rehearing should allow all monies expended on State Highways by the County.

The County is represented in this suit by the firm of Gex and Gex of Bay St. Louis, Mrs. E. H. Connors of Atlanta, Ga., and Barrett Jones of Jackson.

RED CROSS DISASTER RELIEF

As the weeks roll by the Red Cross Disaster Rehabilitation program in Hancock County enters into its third and final phase, according to Charles B. Cooper, Director of the local unit with offices at 131 Carroll avenue.

The first phase was the emergency period with emphasis on food, clothing, shelter and medical aid. The second phase is casework, wherein each family is visited and the Red Cross worker makes a study of the losses suffered by each family and verifies her inability to recover without undue hardship. The third phase is disbursing of awards.

For many of these families the casework has been completed and they have been notified that their cases are ready to be disbursed. They are invited to come to the Disaster office at which time they are advised of the amount of aid which has been granted and are given purchase orders on whatever merchant or contractor they prefer to patronize.

Already many homes are in process of repair or rebuilding and the merchants of Bay St. Louis can attest to the quantities of household furnishings, clothing and equipment which are being delivered to the homes of the deserving families by Red Cross purchase order.

The casework on the remaining families is being completed just as fast as possible and several new caseworkers have been brought into Bay St. Louis from other less damaged communities to speed up the job. The severity and extent of damaged homes has made the Hancock County operation a difficult one which requires experienced personnel, Mr. Cooper pointed out.

Speaker At Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Meeting

Dr. John Napier, superintendent of the Picayune City Schools was guest speaker at the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club on Wednesday.

Dr. Napier talked on Education because this is National Education Week, and said that Education is necessary to a Democracy. He traced the development of education from the time of Greece to the present day. He cited the fact that the days of European supremacy the rulers were the dictators and if they decided that a student or young man was to be a shoe maker there was no recourse and so the student learned shoe making and he had no need of greater or broader education—at least that was the rulers saw it. That is not the case now and no matter what profession or trade one learns that person must first have a basic education or he cannot be accepted in their chosen profession.

The great need in the school system in America the speaker said is higher compensation for teachers. Then he said we will have education that will help build a democracy.

Asphalt And Pipe Arrive; To Be Used on Beach Road

Seven carloads of asphalt and three carloads of pipe are being unloaded in Bay St. Louis for use in the repair of the beach road and other demolished property in the city. This material was sent to the city by the U. S. Government from the War Assets commodities and the only expense incurred was the transportation charges.

Uncle Sam Says

Your Uncle Sam is indebted to a newspaper editorial for pointing out one of the most vital qualities of United States Savings Bonds. Under the caption INDESTRUCTIBLE BONDS, this editorial declares: "A resident of the suburbs reported the disappearance of $12,000 in cash and $7,000 in United States Savings Bonds from his home. If he should never see the cash or bonds again, he would be out $19,000 not $19,000. For the bonds will be of no value to the thief, and on application will be reissued to the owner. The misfortune that befell the suburbanite is a timely reminder that surplus cash can be put to work with security, and with assured availability to the owner in time of need, by using it for the purchase of United States Savings Bonds."

Gulf Coast Association Directs Appeal To Governor

The following is letter written by Mr. Max Kohler of Bay St. Louis, secretary of the Gulf Coast Association to Governor Fielding Wright, in an appeal for help from the State of Mississippi for the Gulf Coast in its rehabilitation program.

November 5, 1947

To His Excellency,
Governor Fielding Wright,
Governor of the State of Mississippi,
State Capitol,
Jackson, Mississippi

Honorable Sir:

It has been a traditional spirit of the American people to capitalize on disaster, rather than bemoan the fate of the Code in having sent each holocaust such as the recent hurricane that struck our Mississippi Gulf Coast on September 19th last. Recently both Mrs. Kohler and myself assisted in your splendid majority because of your excellent background of good citizenry, your affection for the Gulf Coast section of our state and your understanding of the temperament of the folks who made their homes in the counties of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson. We learned too of your fondness for this blessed section and of your enthusiasm for its potential haven for the multitudes who could find in this section a climate for curative powers that seemed unavailable elsewhere in this whole United States and which offered otherwise a play ground with unlimited possibilities for healthful, economical and wholesome recreation for the youth of our land and the adult.

Because of these natural advantages and an ardent desire of the good people who have made their homes in this section to develop this marvelous terrain of our State into one of the world's most attractive Garden Spots, our loss, in the almost complete destruction of our effort of over thirty years, becomes all the more deplorable because of the cost involved in the replacement of our sea walls, our roads and our beaches, which if not replaced, will leave what remains of the terrible recent disaster exposed to the ultimate complete destruction by the waters of the Gulf if relief and immediate provisions for protection against the elements is not provided.

This disaster is not just the affair or business of the people of the Gulf Coast of Mississippi, but is the concern of every citizen of the present and future of the Sovereign State of Mississippi. The Mississippi Gulf Coast is Mississippi—just as is the history of Natchez—the Beauty of Meridian—the Wealth of the Delta and the Cotton Fields and Industry of Central and Northern Mississippi is a part of Mississippi. In these Central and Northern sections of our state our Mississippians found opportunity because of geographic location to create the wealth of the state and the taxable real and personal. We are glad for them and their prosperity but this does not change the fact that we on the Gulf Coast served their fellow citizens of the state with the proverbial fishing line, a row-boat and a bathing suit—the items and things that make for play and pleasure but never create assets that ever accrue a sizeable, taxable asset.

So your Excellency, while the folks of our state to the North of us developed the worlds largest plantations and industries, we here on the Gulf Coast provided the pleasure in the spare hours our Mississippi citizens devoted to play. We are not complaining about this—to the contrary, we Mississippians who live on the Gulf Coast in this storm torn area are proud of our record—we are glad to have contributed to the health, the recreation, the fun, the fishing lines and the row-boats, yes, the planting of our many attractive gardens that offered a different flower every month in every year to our visitors from the State of Mississippi particularly.

But alas, dear Governor Wright, our row-boats have been shattered by the storm—our bathing suits are in shreds, the roadways and seawalls are badly battered and destroyed and we folks and our community having saved little-taxable property, we are that poor, so poor that we feel justified in asking the State of Mississippi through Legislative and Executive departments to call a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of voting a substantial and appropriate sum of money, necessary to build bigger, stronger and better than ever, so that the Mississippi Gulf Coast section—shall not perish from the earth.

A suitable appropriation would mean so little to the people of the State of Mississippi. It would mean so much to these same people to restore their Mississippi Gulf Coast.

With your deserving and favorable response Governor, the way can be found—Let's go—remember it's for Mississippi and Mississippi people.

Anticipating your early and favorable co-operation in this respect, I remain, Honorable Sir,
Sincerely yours,

MAX N. KOHLER,
Secretary Gulf Coast Association.

OUR SWELL KIDS

Well, our kids are back in school and it looks like they're doing a great job. Nowadays they're learning a good bit about economics, civics and self-government, so they get used to making their own laws and living by them. It's a pretty well-rounded educational program, they're getting.There's another program I'd like to mention that every person has—or should have—a great interest in. It's the brewing industry's self-regulation program that controls the conditions surrounding the legal sale of beer. Their goal is to keep every place where beer is legally sold decent and law-abiding.How does that effect our kids? Well, look at any "dry" county—where local option elections have opened up additional markets for bootleggers who nurture and encourage juvenile delinquency... and you have the answer!From where I sit, the brewing industry's self-regulation program is more than an answer to such problems. It helps us to avoid that lawlessness and disrespect for authority that can have such a damaging effect on our children.

The Search for OIL and GAS

— Can be most effectively carried forward by a strong, healthy, competitive industryPrivate capital, Individual initiative, and free competitive enterprise have achieved a substantial development in exploration, production, refining, marketing and transportation of Mississippi's long hidden oil and gas resources.Mississippi's oil and gas industry, in 8 years, has put almost 1000 oil wells in production, built two refineries and located vast gas reserves. During the first 9 months of this year, 378 wells were drilled.
Of this number, 244 oil wells and 26 gas wells have been completed, and 108 were dry wells.The search goes on as this progressive industry continues its job of making Mississippi one of the nation's great oil and gas states. You, too, are vitaly interested in this work because what helps the sound development of our oil and gas reserves helps Mississippi and all Mississippians.This is one of a series of informative messages published in the public interest.

Bay High Tigers Defeat
G. C. M. A.

The Bay High Tigers, getting off to a slow start with two straight losses seem to have found themselves and are now making it hot for all competition.

Last Thursday night before a fine crowd they rolled over G. C. M. A. by a lopsided score of 27-6. The Tigers took the ball on the opening kickoff and never relinquished it until they scored after a 70 yard drive.

The visitors repeated the performance on the second kickoff and for the remainder of the first half both teams played evenly, with Bay High leading 7-6.

In the second half the Tigers started rolling and could not be stopped.

CELEBRATES FIRST BIRTHDAY

Little Cheri Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Rogers, was just one year old on Saturday and had a real party at the home of her parents and grandparents with just a lot of little boys and girls to play with her and help eat the pink and white cake and pink and white ice cream. And oh so many pretty toys and other gifts for Cheri to keep.

Cheri's grandmother Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois, made a pink birthday cake and topped it with a snow white lamb, moulded from icing, which centered the table. The favors were tiny pink baskets filled with candy and of course there were suckers because no child's party is complete without suckers.

Coming from Gulfport were the little honoree's aunt and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bourgeois and Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and their two children. Her friends were Mrs. F. G. Bernheim and two little daughters Stephanie and Lynn.

ENTERTAINS INFORMALLY Miss Dian Reeder entertained informally at her home on Sunday afternoon at a party. Dancing and games were the features of entertainment.

Attending were Sylvia Ladner, Sheila Mitchell, Carol Carver, Dorothy Garcia, Hope Crasto, Camilla Piazza and Alberto Zambrano, Jose Fernandez, Gertrude Saucier, Louise Malgano, Alfred Candier, Manuel Desantes, Antonio Abimeri, Bobby Hearne, Frank Dominique.

DELTA EXPERIMENT STATION RESEARCH WORKS FOR DELTA

The answer to threats against cotton from substitutes is being found today in the Yazoo-Mississippi Delta, recognized as the most fertile cotton-growing land in the world.

For more than 4,000 years—ever since cotton was first grown in Egypt and China—man has spent arduous, back-breaking hours in the tedious process of harvesting cotton by hand. Now for the first time within the cotton industry of the Delta, mechanization, which is taking hand-labor out of the picture, is accepted, at least in part, as the answer to competition.

A great deal of the credit for this revolutionary change is due the Delta Experiment Station at Stoneville, largest cotton experiment station in the world, home of the only cotton ginning laboratory, and one of the largest seed producers and distributors in the world.

Although the mechanical cotton picker, of which there are over 100 in the Delta today, is the result of millions of hours of research and millions of dollars of investment by private individuals, research conducted at Stoneville has done much to prove that yields and quantities of cotton are unaffected by this new means of production.

The Station was established at Stoneville in 1904 on a 200-acre site donated by the people of Washington county. Hog breeding, pasture and feeding work were done between 1911 and 1916, at which time the first cotton breeding work was tried. The foundation was laid for a good deal of the rotation and fertilizer work underway today and the first cotton spacing work was accomplished during this period.

Today the Station cultivates 692 of its 777 acres, which are divided into from 20,000 to 25,000 test plots on fertility, fertilizer, cotton varieties and breeding, corn, oats, barley, horticulture, soy beans, winter and summer legumes, alfalfa, varieties and pastures.

Research and new methods in the production and handling of cotton, however, have been its principal concern and have gained for the Station an international reputation.

The U. S. Cotton Ginning Laboratory, only unit of its kind in the world, was established in 1931 to determine the best methods for picking, handling and packaging of cotton. With nearly all types of machinery and equipment, the laboratory can reproduce the actual conditions existing in a commercial gin for any area of the cotton belt except the arid section.

Results are outstanding. The mechanical cotton drier, for instance, which was developed at Stoneville, is now used in more than 20 percent of all gins. Cleaning and extracting tests conducted here resulted in recommendations which have increased gin capacity by 20 percent. Studies also have been made on ginsaw design, maintenance, packaging, handling of seed to prevent mixing at the gin, storage, reduction of power wastes, and many special cotton industry.

Stoneville's fiber testing laboratory is charged with inspecting color, length and strength of cotton fibers to help guide cotton buyers in developing cottons of value for spinning value. This laboratory likewise provides valuable information for spinners and mill makers.

Home of the Delta Experiment Station at Stoneville, largest cotton experiment station in the world, where new methods of producing, picking and handling cotton are determined through exhaustive research.

Color, length and strength of cotton fibers are tested at the Delta Experiment Station's fiber testing laboratory, at Stoneville. Through such tests quality cotton can be produced which will meet demands of buyers, spinners and manufacturers.

Cottonseed quality investigations are made of all cotton ginned and the particular project underway in the laboratory now is the development of a system of grading cottonseed at gins.

All of the facilities of the Ginning Laboratory have been made available to the Experiment Station for testing cotton produced in its mechanization and cotton improvement studies. This close tie-up of the results obtained by both institutions has thus made Stoneville the cotton production research center of the nation.

Now research and new methods of producing and handling the lint are being supplemented by intensive study of marketing methods and requirements. The Fourth Spinner-Breeder Conference this year featured the interest of mill buyer, mill superintendent and the cotton farmer in selecting and marketing of quality cotton.

Although cotton is still the principal agricultural crop in the Delta, diversification is helping produce a more nearly balanced economy, and the Delta Experiment Station has done much to encourage diversified crops.

The regional headquarters for the southeast area of the soybean research program, for instance, are being established at Stoneville. This program will develop for the area a coordinated and improved bean program with special emphasis on varieties suited to this section.

A recent Congressional Act also appropriated $20,000 for the study of hybrid seed corn for Southern States and much of the work authorized by the bill will be done at Stoneville, where breeding and improvement project is already under way.

Small grain and livestock production have attained much attention and the livestock industry now is backing an expanded pasture and animal husbandry research program.

The magnitude of this diversification program is reflected in the following statistics:

Since 1940 the value of livestock and livestock products sold has jumped from a little over $3,500,000 to nearly $8,000,000. Value of forest products sold has tripled. Oats threshed increased from 80,114 acres in 1940 to 285,772 in 1945. Utilization of less desirable lands is producing more crops which can be used at home instead of being shipped to other sections.
